● Sauvignon Blanc ●

Sauvignon Blanc is a white wine that owes much of its popularity to winemakers in Bordeaux and Loire Valley in France. The Sauvignon Blanc taste is very different from other white wines, like Chardonnay, because of its green and herbaceous flavors.

Chardonnay

Oaked Chardonnays are rich, full-bodied and have additional flavors of vanilla, butter and even caramel from the oak. A cool climate, buttery Chardonnay will have more citrus flavors versus a warm climate Chardonnay, which will have more tropical fruit flavours.

SHIRAZ

The wine produced by the Shiraz and Syrah grape tends to be dark and full-bodied. Shiraz is usually more of a fruity, syrupy wine than Syrah... Syrah is one of the darkest, most full-bodied red wines. Its flavor tends to be really front heavy, which means it packs a flavor punch right away and then tapers off.

MERLOT

Merlot is a dark blue-colored wine grape variety, that is used as both a blending grape and for varietal wines. The name Merlot is thought to be a diminutive of merle, the French name for the blackbird, probably a reference to the color of the grape.

PINOTAGE

Pinotage is a red wine grape that is South Africa's signature variety. It was bred in 1925 as a cross between Pinot Noir and Cinsaut (Cinsaut was known as "Hermitage" in South Africa during that time, hence the portmanteau name of Pinotage).

PINOT NOIR

The name may also refer to wines created predominantly from Pinot Noir grapes. The name is derived from the French words for pine and black; the pine alluding to the grape variety having tightly clustered, pine cone-shaped bunches of fruit.
